

Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists (RANZCP)

Australia and New Zealand

The Russian MoH responsible for public health policy, regulation, and the overall health system in Russia. Its mission encompasses promoting health, preventing diseases, and enhancing the quality of medical services across the nation. The Ministry oversees the development and approval of national clinical guidelines for a broad range of medical conditions. These guidelines are primarily developed by national professional medical societies and expert groups, then reviewed and approved through a formal process coordinated by the Ministry.
