

Ugandan Ministry of Health (Ugandan Ministry of Health)

Uganda

The Ministry of Health is a government body mandated to provide stewardship and leadership of the health sector. It is responsible for policy review and development, supervision of health sector activities, engagement and dialogue with health development partners, strategic planning, standard setting and quality assurance, resource mobilization, advising other ministries, departments, and agencies on health-related matters, and ensuring quality, equity, and fairness in healthcare contributions. Its mission is to promote and ensure Universal Health Coverage through evidence-based and technically sound, client-centred policies, standards, and strategies. The Uganda Clinical Guidelines manual helps to achieve these standards by presenting updated, practical, and useful information on the diagnosis and management of common health conditions in Uganda. It also provides a rational basis for an efficient procurement and supply system that ensures the availability of safe, efficacious, quality medicines and health supplies.
