

European Psychiatric Association (EPA)

International

The EPA is the main association representing psychiatry in Europe. The EPA's activities represent the interests of psychiatrists in academia, research and practice throughout all stages of career development. The EPA Guidance Papers are expert-authored papers that share best practices and evidence-based insights aimed at enhancing mental health care quality across Europe. Commissioned by the EPA Board, they help foster cross-country learning, especially in areas where formal guidelines are lacking.
